

Working on the engine cover.....had to lower the engine cradle an inch to make room for the cover. Next are the walls in the engine compartment to make it look better.

Just a little paint and ready for display.

