

Lighting projects

I finally went out and got the headlights! On a scale of 1-10, 10 being best condition I have to say these headlights are a 10 !!! Tomorrow I'm going to test fit them on the body. The suspension is also in progress now...so I'm in a better mood now hah! Hope you have a Great Weekend. I will talk with you later. And yes I did pay a lot for the lights. But it was worth every dollar! They wanted $300 pair. I ended up taking them for $200 pair. =)

These fogs are almost like original! They come off of a: 98-01 Chevrolet Camaro. Ebaymotors.com has the pair for around $60 I think. They even come with mounting brackets!

They are not installed yet. And I have to say wow they almost fit perfect! It's about 95% to Perfect! Very minimal of trimming needed. Very happy with the fiberglass craftsmanship!

Chevrolet Camaro 1998-2002 Fog lights. They fit and look like original fogs on a real lambo!!!

Here is the shot of the headlights in and fitting the original turn signals into the body.

These are the original style taillights that will be used.

Note the beautiful styling of the originals

Anytime you have one of these bags, you know the contents was "expensive"
